

It is not in the public interest to allow increasing concentration in media ownership. I urge you at least to keep the present ownership limitations; but we really need more stringent limitations, more competition, and more independence.